FISH PROTECTED BY NEW LAW.
The fish laws of 1915 prohibit taking a number of varieties of fish from the streams or other waters of the state from the first day of May to the fifteenth of June of each year.

The following is the law on the subject, and furnished us by W. M. Thompson, who will vigorously prosecute any violations of the law, which he may discover:

Section 47. Be it further enacted, That it shall be unlawful for any person or persons to capture or attempt to capture or take from any of the streams or other waters of this State any of the fishes deemed to be game fishes, to-wit: Brook trout, rainbow trout, black bass, sometimes called trout, land locked salmon, and crappie, and rock bass, called black perch, in any manner whatsoever, including trot lines, rod and line, baited hook, trols, spinners, and artificial flies, on any day or days intervening between the first day of May and the fifteenth day of June following of every year, said period being hereby constituted a closed season on game fishes. Any violation of the provisions of this section shall be a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not less than five nor more than ten dollars.

It is also a misdemeanor to retain any bass, perch or trout taken in a minnow net.

Mr. Thompson is deputy sheriff at Whitwell, and is watching for violations of the law, as he proposes to enforce it, as part of his sworn duty.

Low and Buil Smith went down the pike Monday.

Mrs. Joe Lowman visited Mrs. Samples Tuesday.

Sam Clinton has returned from Copper Hill again.

El Templeton promised to call at ye writer's Saturday, but failed to show up.

John Thomas and Henry Anderegg went fishing Friday, making the trip in an auto, and got a fine lot of fish.

A certain fellow said Saturday he was going to Bridgeport to meet his buddy there. Ye writer can't hear from his buddy. He surely must have gone somewhere.

The miners here are grumbling. They say the company ordered a 10c raise the first of the month, but they say they did not get it, and the raise was given everywhere else except Whitwell, and they want to know why Mr. Meagher did not give them a raise the same as Alabama got. They say this is a scab hole as well as Alabama, and they think they ought to have what is allowed them. Well, ye writer thinks that they have been getting part of what a nonunion place ought to have, but I think that they ought to have what they broke the strike for. Give them their dues, that is half work, starvation and half nakedness, and fear of opening their mouths, for the bosses are watching them, and if they say anything about organizing down the pike they must go. So, just grin, boys, and don't say anything against what you worked for. I love to see men get what they work for.

Special to the News.

We are having some pretty weather up here.

I see that "Uncle Blue" did not write last week, as he was sick.

Lester Martin visited ye writer Friday afternoon.

If you want to see Audrey Kelly smile, just ask him who that letter was from he got Wednesday while playing buff on the bill.

Come on, "Lone Star," and give us some more news about the war.

Jim Vanhooser went to Chattanooga Thursday.

A. B. Hooper went to Chattanooga Thursday.

Work is being done on the pike in Whitwell.

Come on, "Brown Eyes," of Whitwell, and "Uncle Blue," of the Whitwell Department. Come on, "Honey-suckle," of Sweetwater. I know who you are.

Mrs. Ellie Cook and family visited ye writer Saturday afternoon.

Ellie Cook says that she likes to hear from Monterey, Tenn., as she knows lots of the people up there.

The mines ran five days last week.

Dr. J. L. Seay and family were out riding in their new car Sunday.

S. F. Sampley and family visited ye writer Sunday.

Dear readers, let me give you a little information about Roman Catholics.

In the June issue of the Converted Catholic, William Lloyd Clark gives the following list of Roman Catholics holding prominent positions: The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, Edward D. White, is a Roman Catholic. Joseph McKenna, a Roman Catholic, is an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. John J. Fitzgerald, a Roman Catholic, is chairman of the powerful committee on appropriations of the House of Representatives. John Burke, a Roman Catholic, is treasurer of the United States. Randall, Ashurst and O. Gorman, Roman Catholics, are United States senators from Louisiana, Arizona, and New York. The Governor of Illinois is a Roman Catholic. The mayors of New York and Boston are Roman Catholics. Under the administration every ambassador to foreign countries, with the exception of Italy and England, is a Roman Catholic. A Roman Catholic by the name of Cornelius Ford is Public Printer in Washington having control of all government printing and controlling the government payroll in the printing department amounting to millions of dollars annually. A Roman Catholic, Joseph E. Ralph, is director of the Bureau of Printing and Engraving. Two-thirds of the department chiefs are Roman Catholics. Practically all of the important federal positions in the large cities like Boston, New York, Brooklyn, Chicago, St. Louis, and San Francisco are filled with Roman Catholics. The private secretary of the president of the United States is a Roman Catholic. A Roman Catholic managed the national campaign that elected Wilson. Ten states now have Roman Catholic administrations. More than 70 per cent. of the appointments of President Wilson are Roman Catholics. Thirty-one states now have Catholic democratic committees. Twenty-one states have Catholic republican committees. Twenty thousand public schools have one half Catholic teachers. Six hundred public schools now use Catholic readers and teach from them the Roman Catholic religion. New York, Chicago, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Toledo, Cleveland, and St. Louis now employ more than 75 per cent Catholic teachers. Roman Catholics are in a majority in the city councils of 15,000 towns and cities in the United States.
